

In recognition of the one year anniversary of the January 6 attack on the U.S. Capitol and on behalf of the 30 member societies of FASEB with its 130,000 researchers, I wanted to thank you for your work on behalf of science over this past year, which has been a difficult time for many. Your steadfast commitment to public service is much appreciated by myself and our leadership. As we enter 2022 I have great hope for brighter days ahead.

We will continue FASEB's support to Members of Congress and staff necessary to develop sound and well-researched science-based public policy decisions to address and solve shared health and wellbeing problems affecting all Americans.

Please do not hesitate to contact FASEB's Office of Public Affairs at ekuo@faseb.org should you need anything from us on topics related to the federal funding agencies that support our research community such as the National Institutes of Health, National Science Foundation, Department of Energy's Office of Science, Veteran Affairs Medical and Prosthetic Research, and the Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Food and Research Initiative.

Wishing you a Happy and Healthy New Year 2022!

Patricia L. Morris, MS, Ph.D.
President, Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology
morrisp@rockefeller.edu

FASEB

Federation of American Societies
for Experimental Biology