

NSF Funded Travel Award Opportunity

Available exclusively for the FASEB 2022 Dynamic DNA Structures in Biology Conference

Thanks to generous support from the National Science Foundation, we are offering several travel scholarships of up to $500 to trainees or eligible young investigators who are presenting a talk and/or a poster at the meeting. Trainees/investigators from under-represented groups and/or with financial need are particularly encouraged to apply.

Minimum eligibility requirements:

- Must present a talk or poster at the meeting.
- Must commit to attend the entire conference.
- Must be an early career investigator, postdoctoral fellow or graduate student.

How to apply

Please send an e-mail to kirill.lobachev@biology.gatech.edu by June 28, 2022, asking to be considered for this award with a statement indicating how you meet the eligibility criteria listed above along with economy class airfare receipt. All information will be kept confidential. Attendees receiving the award will be informed and reimbursed for their travel expenses shortly after the end of the conference.